A FUNKTIONAL FEAST

ASIA-PACIFIC

Despite having worked with Funktion One for a little while, Team 108 has yet to 'officially' announce its appointment as the distributor for Singapore and the neighbouring regions. But now with some flagship installations under its belt, the well respected company is ready to shout about it.

Originally from Perth, Australia, culinary extraordinaire Dave Pynt moved to Singapore three years ago to help set up an Australian style barbecue restaurant in a premises on Teck Lim Road. Burnt Ends offers casual dining with seating at a counter top table looking directly into the open kitchen. With a successful restaurant already operational, Dave decided on a new challenge, in the form of an American smokehouse restaurant called MeatSmith. He consulted with a friend about the venue's sound and settled on a Funktion-One sound system from the new distributor in Singapore, Team 108.
